27 students studying English in the European section sat the TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) At the International School of Brussels on May 14, 2005. This is a highly competitive exam that measures English language proficiency. Scores are used by admissions staff to determine if English skills are adequate for enrollment into a college or university.

Although North American universities primarily use the TOEFL, it is recognized by 180 countries and over 4,000 schools.

Our students labored tirelessly for 8 months to succeed at this exam. Results will be mailed June 22nd from ETS (Educational Testing Service). We congratulate each student for his/her dedication and perseverance.

Good luck class of '05!
